Carhartt Quality meets Cintas Service

Carhartt Apparel available for first time in Uniform Rental Industry

Cincinnati, Oh. February 1, 2010– Cintas Corporation (Nasdaq:CTAS), North America’s largest uniform supplier, has partnered with Carhartt, a global manufacturer of premium workwear, to offer a line of Carhartt garments designed specifically for the uniform rental market.

“This is the first time Carhartt garments have been designed for the uniform rental industry, and we’re extremely excited about the opportunity,” says Chuck Helmes, Director of Garment Strategy at Cintas Corporation. “Carhartt has done an exceptional job of separating itself from the competition based on the quality of its products, and we look forward to combining that reputation with that of Cintas’ service standards.”

With Carhartt Rental Workwear only from Cintas, wearers can appreciate the durability and unparalleled quality they receive from Carhartt clothing when on the job, and at the same time the laundry, repair and replacement benefits that accompany a Cintas Rental Program. The rental convenience, coupled with Carhartt garments that workers recognize and trust, will provide a great benefit that companies can offer to their employees.

“In many cases, uniforms are a major part of a company’s success,” said Steve Carter, Vice President of Corporate Sales for Carhartt. “Cintas uniform programs have helped businesses grow by promoting professional appearances while keeping employees safe and comfortable on the job.”

The new line of Carhartt Rental Workwear will include a Work Shirt available in Blue and Sandstone, a Carpenter Jean, a 5-Pocket Work Jean and Canvas Dungaree Pants available in Navy and Carhartt Brown.

“We’re extremely excited about this partnership,” says Helmes. “Both Cintas and Carhartt were founded on similar values, and together we can bring a great benefit to the active worker.”
