

Community and Interfaith Programs

Cintas is proud to be involved in almost 400 charitable causes and community events across North America. We salute our partners' commitment to their communities and local charities, which includes:

- Support of clothing and donations to local hospitals, domestic violence shelters, foster child networks, underprivileged children programs, local church ministries, and other institutions
- Support of clothing and services to victims of natural disasters through local emergency agencies, local churches, the American Red Cross and others
- Provision of equipment and instruction to job-training and substance-abuse recovery centers and other programs
- Donation of towels, linens and laundry services for community events, coat-donation drives, animal shelters, family centers and homeless kitchens

Interfaith Programs

Cintas is proud to be a sponsor of Matthew 25: Ministries, a non-profit, interfaith ministry that provides humanitarian aid to residents in the United States and in 25 developing countries around the world.

Since 1998, Cintas has donated clothing, sewing machines, fabric and millions of medical supplies to Matthew 25: Ministries. To date, the company's donations have helped more than 1.5 million people:

- Clothing a Needy World – Cintas has donated inventory to provide clothing for children and families. Through a program during the 2002 holiday season called "Clothe-the-Kids," Cintas partners collected and donated almost 6,000 articles of clothing during the company's inaugural campaign.
- Fabric of Hope – Part of the Ministries' priorities is "to provide hope and dignity to the poorest of the poor and to teach them to be self-sufficient." To this end, Cintas has donated sewing machines and fabric so that men and women can start and sustain their own sewing businesses in their communities.
- Healing Hands – Cintas' First Aid and Safety Division has donated medicine and medical supplies for communities in developing countries.
- Cleaner World . . . Healthier Kids – Cintas arranged for additional relationships between our suppliers and the Matthew 25: Ministries for donations of anti-bacterial soaps and other items to fight illness and disease.
