Code of Conduct and Business Ethics

It’s not just what we do, but how we do it.
To: Cintas Directors, Officers and Partners

One of Cintas’ biggest strengths has always been our insistence on honesty and integrity from every partner in the company. No inflated numbers to make ourselves look good. No lies to cover a bad decision. No rationalizations to protect our egos.

We do not cheat our fellow partners, our customers, our shareholders or anybody else. We give honest answers, honor our commitments and keep our promises. If we make a mistake, we admit it; we do not pass it off or cover it up. We focus on what is the right thing to do to accomplish our objectives. We make tough decisions and we do not sweep things under the rug. We live by the rules. Many of the issues addressed in this Code are also covered in specific, detailed policies located on our company intranet.

I count on each of you to uphold the moral and ethical standards through your daily actions. Each day we are faced with business challenges. Part of these challenges includes complying with all applicable laws and regulations and reporting incidents when something needs to be corrected.

Our reputation belongs to all of us and I ask for your help in maintaining it and making it stronger. In doing so, I ask that you speak up if you know of a situation or issue that is in violation of the law, company policy or our core principles. To report questions or concerns, speak with your supervisor, Human Resource Representative, the Compliance Department, or you may call our confidential Direct Line:

- US & Canada – 800.292.9480
- Mexico – 001.800.840.7907 (at prompt dial 800.292.9480)
- Honduras – 800.0123 at prompt 800.292.9480

We strive to maintain our reputation as a company of high principles and values. We will continue to be a company that tolerates nothing less than complete honesty, integrity and fairness in everything we do. Each of us is responsible for our actions and can be a leader in sustaining our commitment to good business.

Thank you for joining me in this effort to live by and maintain our ethical principles.

Executive Chairman

Resolution Process

In most situations, our values and integrity will guide us to the right decision. However, we must always keep in mind how our actions affect the credibility of our organization as a whole, and for this reason, our business ethics must reflect the values and standards of conduct outlined in this Code.

Ethics are not always black and white issues. Sometimes they are obvious. For example, stealing and cheating are obvious violations. But other issues are not so obvious and require additional judgment. Whenever you are confronted with an issue or business decision that is not as clear cut, ask yourself these questions for guidance:

• Will this action endanger anyone’s life, health or safety?
• Is it legal?
• Will I be violating either a law or a company policy?
• Is it honest in every respect?
• How will my actions make me feel about myself? Will it make me proud or ashamed?
• How will I feel if my actions were disclosed to the media?
• How will I feel if my family knows about it?

If you are still not sure how to proceed after considering these questions or wish to report questionable behavior and/or a possible violation, you should promptly:

• Try to resolve the concern through the standard management channels or your human resource representative.
• If you are a partner covered by a labor agreement and a local grievance process covers the issue you are concerned about, you should follow that process.
• If resolution through standard management channels is not appropriate or you have already taken these steps and the issue was not adequately resolved, you may call the confidential Cintas Direct Line. The Cintas Direct Line is a dedicated, toll-free phone line that is available to you 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. It is operated by an external third-party vendor that has trained multi-lingual professionals to take your calls, in confidence, and report your concerns to the appropriate Cintas manager for appropriate action. Your phone calls to the Direct Line may be made anonymously.

No Retaliation

Cintas will handle all inquiries discreetly and make every effort to maintain, within the limits allowed by the law, the confidentiality of anyone requesting guidance or reporting questionable behavior and/or a possible violation. It is Company policy to ensure that no retaliation occurs as a result of any partner raising a business conduct or ethical issue or reporting a perceived violation of Company policy or the law.

Standard of Business Conduct

We are committed to interacting with our customers, working employee-partners, competitors, co-workers, shareholders, vendors, government and regulatory agencies and the communities in which we operate around the world in a respectful, ethical manner and in full compliance with all regulatory and legal requirements.

Antitrust Laws. The antitrust and competition laws of the United States and of other countries are designed to preserve and protect competition in goods and services. Every partner must comply with the antitrust and competition laws of the countries in which we do business. Any business activities involving any of our competitors should be conducted cautiously and in a manner that does not violate these laws. Agreements between competitors relating to prices or allocations of territories or customers are unlawful. (For more information, refer to the Corporate Compliance Policy #C-200, Antitrust Compliance).

Anti-Corruption. The United States Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) prohibits making a payment or offering anything of value to a foreign government official or government agency to impact a decision to obtain, retain or influence business. Cintas promotes a cooperative and productive work environment by supporting the diversity of its workforce and is committed to providing equal employment opportunity to all qualified partners and applicants. (For more information, refer to Corporate Compliance Policy #C-205 Labor and Employment).

Employment decisions are made based on the following criteria: (a) qualifications of candidates with respect to job requirements; (b) development needs of individuals and the Company’s succession planning requirements; (c) equal opportunity and achieving workforce diversity; and (d) legal and contractual requirements. (For more information, refer to policy #C-127 Hiring, Transferring and Payroll Records or #C-152 Hiring System).

Safety, Health and Environment. A safe and clean work environment is important to the well-being of all Cintas partners. Cintas strives to comply with applicable safety and health regulations and appropriate practices in the countries we operate. Cintas strives to comply with all environmental laws, regulations and policies in the countries we operate in order to be a responsible steward of natural resources. Partners who are responsible for, or are engaged in, activities or operations that might affect the environment should be familiar with the laws, regulations and policies in the countries we operate that relate to these activities and comply with them. (For more information, refer to Corporate policy #C-147 Safety, Loss Prevention and Training, Corporate Compliance Policy #C-206 Safety, The Cintas Safety Manual or your division specific safety policy).

Workplace Violence. Caring about the safety of our partners includes offering a workplace free from violence. If you believe that your safety, or that of any other partner, is in jeopardy contact your supervisor, manager or HR representative immediately. You may not have
Conflicts of Interest

Cintas’ directors, officers, managers and partners have an obligation to promote the best interests of the Company at all times. You should avoid any action which may involve a conflict of interest with the Company. Directors, officers, managers and partners should not have any undisclosed, unapproved financial or other business relationships with suppliers, customers or competitors of a magnitude or nature that could impair the independence of any judgment they may need to make on behalf of the Company.

Directors, officers, managers and partners must also avoid the appearance of conflicts of interest, which occur where a reasonable observer might assume there is a conflict of interest and, therefore, a loss of objectivity in their dealings on behalf of the Company. Where conflicts of interest arise, directors, officers, managers and partners must provide full disclosure of the circumstances and recuse him or herself from any related decision making process. Directors and officers shall provide full disclosure to the Chairman of the Company’s Audit Committee and the Chief Compliance Officer, and all other partners shall provide full disclosure to their immediate supervisor.
Full and Fair Disclosure

All books and records of the Company shall be kept in such a way as to fully and fairly reflect all Company transactions. All financial officers shall communicate to our executive management and to the accountants engaged to conduct an audit of our financial statements all relevant information, professional judgments or opinions that relate to our financial statements.

Insider Information

In the course of doing business for Cintas or in discussions with one of its customers, vendors or partners, you may become aware of material non-public information about the Company or that organization. Information is considered “material” if it might be used by an investor to make a decision to trade in the public securities of the Company. Individuals who have access to this type of information are called “insiders.” You may only discuss this information on a limited, strict, “need to know” basis internally and you may not share it with anyone outside the Company. No partner may buy or sell the public securities of a company, including Cintas, if he or she has such information, and no partner shall share (“tip”) this information with others. Because of the extremely sensitive nature of and severe penalties associated with “insider trading” and “tipping,” contact Cintas’ Chief Financial Officer before you buy or sell public securities in situations that could be of this nature. (For more information, refer to Corporate Policy #C-25 Insider Trading of Common Stock).

Fair Dealing

Cintas bases its relationships with customers, suppliers, competitors and partners on fair practices. Accordingly, all directors, officers, managers and partners of the Company should deal fairly with all customers, suppliers, competitors and partners of Cintas. No director, officer, manager or partner shall take unfair advantage of anyone through manipulation, concealment, abuse of privileged information, misrepresentation of material facts or any other unfair dealing practice.

Doing Business with the Government

Often times, the rules for selling services to the government are stricter than the rules that apply to our commercial transactions. We abide by the requirements set forth for government contracting for the countries in which we operate and strive to protect the trust in the relationship we’ve built.

Social Responsibility

Cintas is committed to high standards of ethics on issues of social responsibility. Cintas and its subsidiaries seek to conduct business in an ethical and moral manner in all countries in which we have the privilege to work. To achieve this purpose, we expect our vendors to subscribe to certain moral and ethical principles in conducting business. While Cintas recognizes that there are different legal and cultural environments throughout the world, our Vendor Code of Conduct sets forth the basic requirements all vendors must meet in order to do business with us. We conduct periodic audit inspections of suppliers, their facilities and business practices to verify compliance with our standards and Vendor Code. (For more information, refer to Corporate Policy #C-15 Corporate Disclosure, Corporate Policy #C-38 Corporate Accounting and our Vendor Code of Conduct).

Protection and Proper Use of the Company’s Assets

All directors, officers, managers and partners must safeguard the Company’s property, whether it is a piece of equipment, an electronic file or confidential information. All directors, officers, managers and partners should ensure that all Company property is used in an efficient manner and for legitimate business purposes. Theft, carelessness and waste impact the Company’s profitability and should be promptly reported. (For more information, refer to Corporate Policy #C-43 Information Security and Corporate Policy #C-204 Information Systems).
Corporate Compliance

We maintain a compliance program to support the Company’s efforts to comply with applicable legal requirements of the United States and the countries in which we operate and to appropriately manage risk. We seek to prevent compliance issues from arising by conducting ongoing risk assessments. This process leads to the creation and maintenance of compliance policies and procedures that clearly outline our expectations for how our business should be conducted. Our communication of these policies, as with all our policies, helps raise awareness among our partners of critical areas of business risk and the right ways to handle and manage these risks. We also provide training to support our partners in performing their jobs in a compliant manner.

Acknowledgement Form

From time to time, each of us faces obstacles in our business careers that challenge our business ethics. It is impossible to put together a “rule book” to cover every issue we might encounter. The purpose of this booklet is to provide guidance for your conduct as it relates to our principles and philosophies; governmental laws and regulations; and any other ethical dilemma you might face.

I have read, and understand, the Cintas Code of Conduct and Business Ethics. I agree to conduct my business in accordance with this Code as well as with our other company policies and applicable laws.
